Worm Egg Count Masterclass

Worm Egg Counts – How to do them and why should we be doing more?

Worm Egg Counts (WECs) should play a vital part in every horse owner's worming routine. In recognition of this, EQVALAN® and EQVALAN® Duo manufacturer Merial, in association with expert parasitologists Professor Jacqui Matthews, BVMS PhD MRCVS, and Dr Dave Bartley, BSc PhD, from the Moredun Research Institute are running a WEC Masterclass to help veterinary nurses and SQPs develop expertise to undertake WECs at their practice or store. This training will add significant value to anthelmintic usage advice and sales, and enable veterinary nurses and SQPs to develop individual worming programmes for their clients based on best practice. Additionally, this training will qualify for 52 AMTRA CPD points.

The training will be delivered on Thursday 1st March 2012 from 9.30am until 5.00pm at the Moredun Research Institute just outside Edinburgh. The event will be lead by Jacqui and Dave and will include seminars on equine parasites and drug resistance, problem solving tutorials and a hands-on WEC practical in their state-of-the-art lab.
